

Q&A with Joanna Weaver
author of
Lazarus Awakening

1. The paperback edition of Lazarus Awakening includes a bonus chapter that goes deeper into helping people “loose their graveclothes.” How do you help people identify and deal with the things that keep tripping them up?
2. What continues to trip you up?
3. Your desire over almost thirty years of ministry has been to see people delivered. Tell us about that and how you hope your books, especially Lazarus Awakening, can help.
4. What is the simple mind-change you suggest could help Christians who are experiencing detachment from God?
5. How does the story of Lazarus speak to Christians today?
6. Lazarus was a friend of Jesus. What would it mean in our own lives to be a “friend” of Jesus?
7. How can we guard against “spiritual narcolepsy”?
8. Why do so many Christians doubt God’s love, even as they eagerly proclaim it to others?
9. How did you deal with that “love-doubt” in your own life?
10. How can one find their place in the heart of God?
11. Why were you drawn to the stories of Mary, Martha, and Lazarus?
12. Is there a common theme in the three books that make up the Bethany trilogy?
