

NANA THE GREAT

GOES CAMPING

SNEAK PEEK

SAMPLE
ONLY

UNCORRECTED
PROOF

written by LISA TAWN BERGREN

illustrated by DAVID HOHN

For Mom and Dad,
who gave us the best summer vacations,
and time with all four grandparents,
which was all this kid ever wanted.

WATERBROOK

NANA THE GREAT GOES CAMPING

written by LISA TAWN BERGREN • illustrated by DAVID HOHN

Summer vacations are awesome, and they're even better when my nana is around.

Mama says the closest she'll ever get to camping is a cozy cabin—with a shower and bed—but sometimes Nana talks her into letting us kids join her for some time in "the great outdoors."

Nana is great at exploring.

"Where's the adventure in going to the same old places?" she cries.

"We must climb that intriguing mountain! Explore the mysterious valley! Dive into the deepest sea!"

And so we do. We find a new mountain and we hike ... and hike ...

...and HIKE.

Until I can't hike a single step more.

"Nana, I think you need to carry me back," I say.

"Here. Put your feet up and guzzle some water," she says.
"Have a snack! Sometimes we just need a little break to find the strength to make it a little farther."

Continue reading...order today!

BUY NOW

WATERBROOK