WHAT COLOR is GOD'S LOVE?

What Color Is God's Love? is dedicated to Xavier, Arriana, and Xarian Dixon.
I thank God for Dr. Alan Dixon, Sr., Cendy Trujillo, "Mama Jana" Engelman, Tim Beals, Karen Neumair, and Bunmi Ishola, who believe in me, encourage me, and pray for me as I write to worship God.
To God be the glory, the honor, and the praise!

—XD

To Mama and Papa, for believing in me.

We know and rely on the love God has for us.
God is love. Whoever lives in love lives in God, and God in them.
-1 JOHN 4:16

All the colors displayed in this world that God made—every glorious, fabulous, beautiful shade—show how good God is and will always be.

But what is the color of love? Come and see!

Is love orange like a pumpkin God grows from a seed or like monarch butterflies that munch on milkweed?

ORANGE makes me feel grateful for the things God creates,
from the people we love to the food on our plates.

Is love yellow like the sunflowers God made to stand tall or like honeysuckle vines that crawl up a wall?

YELLOW fills me with joy, as friends work together,
while God grows our garden in bright sunny weather.

Is love blue like the ocean or crystal-clear skies or like blueberries picked for sweet homemade pies?

BLUE makes me feel calm, like a great day to set sail, like a cool, peaceful breeze that says, "God will not fail."
