Dave Ferguson

Dave Ferguson is the lead pastor of Community Christian Church in Chicago, Ill., an innovative multi-site missional community that is passionate about “helping people find their way back to God.” This community has grown from a few college friends to thousands every weekend meeting at thirteen locations in the Chicago area and has been recognized as one of America’s most influential churches.

Dave also provides visionary leadership for New Thing, an organization whose mission is to be a catalyst for movements of reproducing churches.

Additionally, he is the president and board chair for Exponential, the largest church planting conference in the world and is on the board of Ministry Grid and Leadership Network.

As well, Dave is an adjunct professor at Wheaton Graduate School and board member for Leadership Network and the Institute for Community. He is an award-winning co-author of leadership books, including The Big Idea, Exponential, On The Verge, Discover Your Mission Now, Keeping Score and co-author with his brother Jon, Finding Your Way Back to God (Multnomah Books, February 24, 2015). Dave has written numerous articles and spoken worldwide at various leadership and church planting conferences.

He received his B.A. in Bible and Communications from Lincoln Christian University and his masters at Wheaton Graduate School in Educational Ministries – specializing in Church Planting.

Dave and his wife, Sue, have three children, Amy, Joshua and Caleb, and live in Naperville, IL. He loves to coach his kids’ sports teams, reading and running.
