

Author Biography for JAN SILVIOUS

Jan Silvius has been reaching out to women for over 25 years, helping them to live fully and to embrace an intelligent attitude toward life.

As a featured speaker at Women of Faith arena events, Jan has encouraged audiences across the country and across every denomination, challenging them to grow into the women God has called them to be. She has been a plenary speaker for Precept Ministries' National Women's Convention, Moody's Women's Conferences, Moody's Founder's Week. She also has spoken in almost every state of the Union plus Canada, China, Central America and Europe.

On the radio, Jan enjoys interacting with the hosts on "Midday Connection," as well as other national call-in and interview shows. For five years she and Kay Arthur co-hosted the nationally broadcast call-in program, "Precept Live." Jan has also appeared on several television programs including James Robison's "Life Today," "100 Huntley Street," and Kay Arthur's "Precepts for Life."

Jan has authored eleven books, including Look at it This Way and Fool-Proofing Your Life.

The ongoing reader response to these titles has spurred Jan to immerse herself in seeking out biblically sound, psychologically positive answers for women's challenges. Through her titles, Jan hopes to give women fresh perspective to help them change the way they think and ultimately, to change the way they live.

Jan also is a professional life coach, helping people to 'get from where they are to where they want to be.' She works with individuals and groups to help them maximize their life skills in dealing with relationships, personal challenges and work-place dynamics. Her life's work truly is to encourage people to embrace the truth that 'changing your perspective changes everything.'

Jan is married to Charlie, is the mother of three grown sons, two daughters-in-law and grandmother to five delightful grandchildren.

Jan's passion is to encourage men and women to embrace the truth that "changing your perspective changes everything."