Sigmund Brouwer

One of six children born to a family with Dutch heritage, Brouwer is a native of Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. He is married to a Christian singer Cindy Morgan and has two daughters. Brouwer divides his time between Nashville, Tenn. and Red Deer, Alberta, and enjoys sports such as ice hockey and golf.

A favorite cause of Brouwer's is to encourage children to love books. He visits 80,000 students per year at schools across North America to present Rock And Roll Literacy, drawing on the theme that great stories, like great songs, engage our feelings. Brouwer also frequently presents Rock and Roll Literacy with six-time Stanley Cup Champion and NHL Hall-of-Famer Bryan Trottier, all in efforts to hook reluctant readers.

Sigmund Brouwer is a national best-selling author of 20 novels and several series of childrens' titles, with over 3 million books in print in five different languages; his Absolute Pressure was a Junior Library Guild selection. Among Sigmund's titles are ten on the Canadian Children's Book Centre Best Books for Kids & Teens 2009-12. His novels include Broken Angel, The Canary List, Flight of Shadows, and the "Merlin's Immortals" series.
