

Author Biography for Trevin Wax,
author of
Clear Winter Nights

Trevin Wax serves the church by working at LifeWay Christian Resources as managing editor of The Gospel Project, a gospel-centered small group curriculum for all ages that focuses on the grand narrative of Scripture. Trevin earned a bachelor's degree in Pastoral Theology from Emanuel University of Oradea in the country of Romania, where he was involved in mission work in several village churches from 2000-2005. He received a Masters of Divinity at Southern Seminary in Louisville, KY. He also spent several years serving the congregation of First Baptist Church in Shelbyville, TN as Associate Pastor.

Trevin has been blogging regularly at Kingdom People (thegospelcoalition.org/blogs/trevinwax/) since October 2006 and frequently contributes articles to other publications, such as Christianity Today. He enjoys traveling and speaking at different churches and conferences. He and his wife, Corina, live with their two children in middle Tennessee.

Trevin is the author of Holy Subversion: Allegiance to Christ in an Age of Rivals (2010), Counterfeit Gospels: Rediscovering the Good News in a World of False Hope (2011), Clear Winter Nights: A Journey into Truth, Doubt, and What Comes After (2013), and Gospel-Centered Teaching: Showing Christ in All the Scripture (2013).

Find him on Twitter: @TrevinWax (<https://twitter.com/trevinwax>)